So the things that I'm excited about in the learning commons are like the green screens. You can make movies, you can take like cool pictures, and make backgrounds if you wanted or like if you wanted green clothing or like the cloth, you could be, become invisible and make like a ghost story. That excites me. The Makey Makeys, those are like really cool. Because you literally put into a carrot and play a piano and plus we have computers we can play on. So we can play like games or like learn stuff, use learning sites. It's pretty cool!
