And I mean, doing UX work, I feel like I'm prepared in terms of work. I think I can do that but also we've, we do a lot of studies and then hand off the recommendations and sometimes they don't get done (Wayne: Yeah) and so, I'm used to it, maybe.

Anyways, that sounds like a great project and you'll get to probably meet a lot of people.

I want to do something meaningful with my vacation days. I want to spend an extended amount of time sort of immersed in another culture and I don't really think you can do that when you're just a tourist. But I want to get to know a culture more easily and I want to also grow personally. Of course, I can tell, share my experiences and I'm hoping that they'll have experiences to share with me and I can take that back, whether that's to the job or personally. And I would like to do a meaningful project as well, I would hope work that work that I do obviously in collaboration with them is something that is meaningful to them and helps their mandate and their work.
